Family Meeting

I'm calling a Family Meeting. This meeting is for the Hicks Family. We are going to meet on Tuesday, November 13th at 7pm in the sanctuary to discuss recent developments in the United Methodist Church pertaining to the Commission on the Way Forward and its proposal for the Special Session of General Conference this February.

It's important for us as a church to be informed about what is happening in our denomination and how it may affect us at Hicks. I have written about some of these things in the past year (see here) and have tried to provide some context and background on the specific issues of sexuality and gender facing the church. I won't reproduce all that now. At our meeting in November we will present brief sketches of the One Church Plan that is being recommended by a majority in the Council of Bishops; the Connectional Conference Plan; and the Traditional Plan. We will do our best to present the relevant information and implications of each plan. We will then provide ample time for questions and discussion among us.

You don't have to wait for our meeting to become more informed about what is at stake. If you go to our Conference website, susumc.org, and click on the icon for A Way Forward in Christian Unity, you can read the full text of the Commission report (very lengthy) and you can read a summary of the report (more helpful) by Dr. Tom Salsgiver, a member of our annual conference and a member of the Commission.

I hope you will avail yourself of this opportunity to come to this discussion in our church. You don't have to be an official member to participate. If you care about Hicks and you care about people, then this is for you. Lastly, please pray for the Church and what God desires of us in these times. I covet your prayers as the pastor of this church. Pray for me as I seek to lead in wisdom and in step with the Holy Spirit.

See you in worship,
Rich Morris, pastor

UMW: Faith, Hope, Love In Action

United Methodist
Women

FAITH · HOPE · LOVE IN ACTION

Saturday, October 20th at Hicks Memorial UMC

Be sure to register before Oct. 6 for this special event to be held at Hicks UMC on Saturday, October 20th. The theme this year is "Justice for Creation." The program will be an inter-active event led by a Be Just-Be Green Team representative and a devotional message from a member of the Evangelical Environmental network. Registration begins at 8:45am and concludes with a business meeting after lunch.

It will be a time for spiritual growth as you learn, worship and celebrate with other United Methodist Women from across the conference. Registration forms are on the Welcome Desk. Cost is only $10 for the morning session or $15 for the morning and afternoon sessions and lunch. Send in your registration now!

United Methodist Women

At the October meeting of the UMW, Sonia Keiper shared information on the study from Mission U and 16 boxes were packed for our college students. Thank you to all who donated items. Instead of their regular October meeting on the third Wednesday, the UMW will be attending the Conference Annual Day on Sat., Oct. 20. On the third

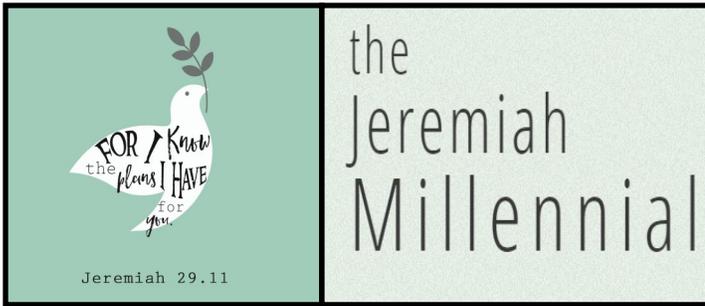

Wednesday, Oct. 17, they will, however, meet at 2:00 at the church to make cards for their card ministry to shut-ins. Come make cards and be sure to attend the Conference Annual Day. (See details in the Annual Day article.)

Your Support is Needed.....

Each year the United Methodist Women distribute offering envelopes as a way to receive your monetary support for ministries for women, children and youth. These envelopes are the main source of income for our unit and make it possible for us to meet our $1,500 pledge. Your gift in any amount provides for ministries in over 100 countries. If you do not receive an envelope, extras are on the Welcome Desk or simply mark your donation "UMW."

The second Sunday of each month is Mission Sunday and giving to the UMW Mission Train, to the Rescue Mission in Hollidaysburg and to other missions is emphasized. A train is placed next to the Welcome Desk to receive your coins for the UMW or coins may be placed in the worship offering plates any week. So if you forget to look for the UMW Mission Train, pull out your coins and place them in the offering. Nonperishable food is always needed by the Rescue Mission and should be placed in the basket in the Donation Station outside the church office.

Each month you have an opportunity to volunteer at the Rescue Mission or the Mission Central Hub. Watch your bulletin and newsletter for dates and locations for these M&Ms (Meal and Ministry). Have lunch with friends and serve others through this ministry. It is open to men and women and you are encouraged to participate.

It's the Stillness

"It's the stillness that fills me with peace."

- Robert W. Service, Poe

Push harder. Break boundaries. Surpass your limit.

These are the ideas expressed in a sports commercial I came across this week. I admire the athletes' dedication to their sports, but I am wary of their message. The commercial sells a sneaker, but portrays a deeper story. It says, if you push yourself beyond all limits, you'll be fulfilled and accomplish an ultimate purpose. In Western culture, we see productivity as unequivocally good. Standards are set remarkably high and make anything less than total success feel like a full on failure. Nobody wants to be perceived as a failure, so it's just a matter of keeping up with the status quo, right?

Before I continue, I'd like to make clear that this post isn't meant to discourage hard work, determination, or motivation. We are in fact called in Colossians 3:23-24 to, "work with all our heart, as working for the Lord, not for human masters.... It is the Lord we are serving." However, it seems to me that the world could use a little more balance. I don't believe that we have to choose between a job well done and a total sacrifice of our spiritual, mental, and physical well-being.

That being said- one really has to understand their priorities and be willing to sacrifice the things that don't fit into that category. I wonder, this strive for perfection, what does it really get us? To me, it feels more like a distraction. Piling on the workload, being yes men (or women), and pushing ourselves to the brink of madness diverts our attention from our very selves. We work so hard for others to think we are succeeding, when maybe we are trying to convince ourselves of our own inherent value.

Society elicits such a strong need to make a name for oneself, which often requires an impressive resume of skills. However, if tomorrow our jobs, hobbies, and interests all became obsolete; in the secular world, who and what would we be? Lost. Left wandering. With an identity in Christ, our mere existence is purposed.

Ephesians 2:10 tells us, "We are God's handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God has prepared for us." It would seem then that our value does not lie in exhaustion, or attempts to extend ourselves beyond our threshold. So how can we expect to discern God's handiwork when we clutter our days with non-stop activity? In a fast paced world, stillness is not an easy feat. However, I would argue that is a necessary attribute of Christian living. Theologian Meister Eckhart wrote, "Nothing in all of creation is so like God as stillness." In the hustle and bustle of everyday life, stillness is required if we wish to witness God's handiwork. Stillness is also required to hear the purpose for which we were uniquely created.

So, can we stop running around like madmen trying to distract ourselves from the stillness? Can we aim for a balance between chaos and peace? Can we live presently over perfectly?

Bible Verse: John 16:33: "These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

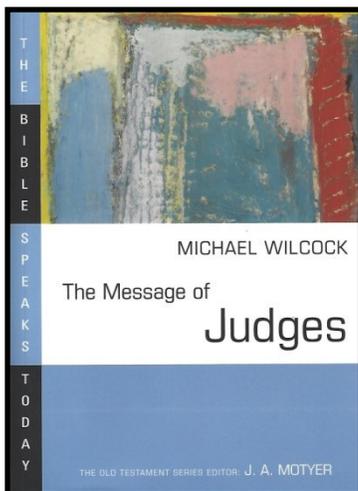

Discussion Questions:

1. On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate your ability to find peace or stillness in your daily life?
2. What specific areas in your life do you find yourself wanting to push yourself beyond all limits to perfection? Is this perspective helping or harming your overall enjoyment of life?
3. What characteristics, activities, or beliefs have most helped you create your identity in Christ?
4. Call to Action: Consider removing yourself from all social media platforms for a week. Use the time that you would ordinarily spend on those apps to find stillness with God. (If you'd like a starting place, I recommend the Abide, First Five, or Proverbs 31 Ministries apps.)

Closing Prayer:

Lord, it can be so challenging to live in a world that demands so much of our time and energy. We have tried so many times to live up to perfect expectations only to fall down. We are tired and weary. Thank you for loving us in a way where we are not defined by the superficial. We pray this week that we can find more stillness and time with you, even if that means sacrificing time in other areas. I pray that you would work on our hearts so that we can use our lives for the purposes you uniquely designed for us to be a kingdom builders. In your name we pray, Amen. New October Study: The Book of Judges

NEW STUDY BEGINNING ON OCTOBER 14. This fall join the Kitchen Class on Sunday mornings at 9:30 to look at the Book of Judges.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES BUSTLES WITH COLORFUL CHARACTERS.

Ehud, a left-handed political assassin who cleverly dispatches a corpulent king. Deborah, a bold prophet and matriarch of Israel who musters tribes to war. Samson, a Rambo-like warrior who dallies with women and annihilates Philistines in a temple of doom.

To Christian readers Judges is interesting, sometimes inspiring, but also puzzling. What message should we take from it? How are we to understand the ambiguous spirituality of the judges themselves? What was God doing during this wayward period between Joshua and Samuel?

With wit, insight and sensitivity to the narrator's art, Michael Wilcock answers these and other questions. God himself is the Judge, he argues, who transcends the uncertain record of human judges. He is the principal actor in this drama. Always ready to respond to those who call on him, he takes the initiative and uses raw human resources to preserve Israel from its enemies and shape the nation for his purpose.

In exposing the twists and turns and nuances of this story, Wilcock sends us back to Judges with a renewed quest, not only to rediscover the story of God and Israel, but to find fresh perspective on the ways of God and his church in a post-Christian world.

Sing in the Christmas Cantata

By Sandy Steele, Choir Director

If you are interested in singing please join the chancel choir on Wednesday, October 10th at 7:45pm. This is when we, who love to serve the Lord by singing, will begin practice for our annual Christmas cantata! Our choir is a warm, loving, group of people who work hard to prepare and present music for the glory of our Lord. The only prerequisite is the willingness to share about 1/2 hour per week learning the cantata. I encourage anybody who may be interested to just come! We would love to have you! If you have any questions, please call me. Thank you, Sandy 935-0899.

Benefits to Leading a Small Group

Between a busy job, family commitments, home responsibilities, and attempting to have a social life, you are probably already overwhelmed, tired and maybe stressed-out.

Does this sound familiar? It did to me! So when we are already stretched-to-the-max, why commit to one other thing that takes our time? Good question!

It's easy to get stuck in the excuses of why we think we can't lead a small group, I wrestle with the idea myself every-so-often. But, rather than think of why we can't lead one, I thought I would share a few reasons why maybe you SHOULD lead a group, and then maybe offer some suggestions on how we juggle it all! Here are some suggested benefits of leading a small group that I found in a recent search of the all-knowing Googler:

10 Benefits of Leading A Small Group:

1. Crucify Consumerism. We have developed some bad habits in the American church. We have reduced our faith to sitting in church services and having a personal quiet time. This develops a selfish inner culture called "consumerism." Consumerism entails living out your faith and church orientation for yourself. Consumerism is not biblical community. Consumerism is not the gospel. Consumerism must therefore be crucified (Galatians 5:24). Leading a small group will transform you into a "contributor." You will have to give up your own time, energy and resources for the spiritual edification and formation of others. That selfish part of you that once dictated your decisions will eventually be starved, dried up and gone.

2. Bring Jesus Home. Leading a small group invites the kingdom of God into your living room. It will move your faith beyond the four walls of the church sanctuary and into the space where the "real you" lives and breathes.

Personally, I love having a small group praying and worshipping in my house. I love sensing God's Presence as it fills my living room and radiates through the halls. My girls get exposed to this type of community and worship and I can only hope that it's something that they begin to look forward to as well.

3. Increase Your Ability To Talk About Your Faith. Participating in regular group discussion that wrestles with divine truth and our human experience is a fruitful process to say the least. It helps you to put your faith into your own words versus just sitting in a pew and listening to another person's.

Members of small groups eventually talk about their faith more with unbelievers because their group experience has made it "normal" to talk about. Leading a group discussion only enhances and increases this dynamic in the development of a believer.

4. Develop Hospitality Muscles. In the KJV, 1 Peter 4:9 says, "Use hospitality one to another without grudging." In the Greek, hospitality means being generous to guests. The biblical concept of guests refers to a person entering your home. In fact, in the NLT, 1 Peter 4:9 reads, "Cheerfully share your home with those who need a meal or place to stay." May I suggest that you can't practice true hospitality until another person crosses the threshold of your front door?

5. Real Connections. When you lead a small group you are putting yourself out there. You're making yourself vulnerable to others. While this is not always comfortable, you are positioning yourself to experience real connection and relationship with others. You're inviting people into a closer dimension of your life. This is where life-exchange and life change can occur.

6. Crucify Individualism. America is the most individualistic society in the world. You don't even realize how much you view the world through the prism of your own individuality. Yet, the collective value of the whole was highly esteemed in the first century church, not the value of a single person. I think it's safe to say that leading a small group will help to neutralize this tendency in your life. Individualism might be the greatest idol in the hearts of American Christians today. Maybe it isn't a coincidence that the English word for "idol" begins with the letter "I."

7. Become more like Jesus. Romans 8:29 says, "For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son." It is God's will for you to become more like His Son, Jesus Christ. Interceding, reaching out, serving and loving people as a small group leader will continue the work of carving out the character of Christ in your soul. It will also give you a new appreciation for the way Jesus ministered to the twelve disciples. Leading a small group helps you to become more like Jesus.

8. Clean Home. I can only hope this is a natural by-product of leading a small group in your home. It is for me. I go into a house cleaning frenzy when I'm expecting people over for a small group meeting. Of course it's more work, but the final result is a clean house, praise God!

9. Fulfill the Great Commission. There are two judgments mentioned in the Bible: The Great White Throne Judgment between believers and unbelievers (Revelation 20:12-15) and the Judgment of Seat of Christ for believers (1 Cor. 3:12-15, 2 Cor. 5:10). At the Judgment Seat of Christ, salvation is not the issue; rather, The Lord will evaluate believers' lives for the purpose of giving them eternal rewards. The rewards will be based on how we used our resources (time, gifts, talents, energy, money, etc.) to obey God and build His kingdom. Leading a small group transforms you into a disciple making disciples that make disciples. It is an obedient response to His call in Matt. 28:18-20 to go into all the world and make disciples of all nations. Leading a small group equips you to live out His Word and prepares you for your eternal destiny.

10. It will help you to slow-down. I know you are busy. I know you are tired. Even while reading this list you are wondering how I can suggest that any of take on an additional responsibility. But trust me, as you lead a group, you begin to slow down. In that time that you are gathering, you find yourself present, attentive, and intentional with other people seeking to be disciples of Christ. It slows your mind, it lightens your soul, and for a few short hours a week, you find yourself at peace surrounded by others on the same journey!

With all these benefits and more, how does one integrate small group leadership into an over-burdened life and schedule? The answer is simple: You make time for that which is important. For me, I looked at my already packed schedule and asked myself what do I do that doesn't bring me peace? Time playing on my cellphone, time sitting in front of the television, time pacing around the house wondering "what to do". I looked at my current schedule and identified a time that I could schedule a small group. No one said that a small group has to take place at night. If you have free time during the day, I'm sure that there are others that do as well. If you don't want to give up your evening exercise throughout the week, then find a way to incorporate it into a group. If you need a baby-sitter, talk to us! Let us help find a church youth member that would be willing to come to the group as child-care! The possibilities are endless when we make our mind up that this is something important. If this creates tension within yourself, I encourage you to wrestle with it, search His Word, pray and come to your own conclusion about what God has for you.

Truthfully speaker, I'm a better person when I lead a group. I'm more intentional in my journey with God, I'm more compassionate and understanding of others, and I'm more joyful and content, which is a blessing not only to me, but also to my family.

If you would be interested in learning more about leading a group, talk to me! Give me a call, shoot me an email, or stop me at church! Let me provide you with the resources and support you need. If it's your first time, you don't have to try it out alone! Just ask for help, that's what we're here to do!

Pumpkin Gospel Lesson on Oct. 21st

On Sunday, October 21st join us for a morning of Pumpkins and Prayers featuring a special themed lesson, craft, games and snack for children attending our 9:30 & 11:00 Children Church classes. The children will learn more about how we are like pumpkins and God is the Gardener. God creates us and cares for us. He "chooses" us from all of the other pumpkins, but inside we all have the yucky goo – sin. God gives us His light to shine through us! He turns us into new creations that can shine for Him! And when others see our light, then they might want to learn how to have a light of their own, too! We don't want you to miss this special morning. Invite a friend and join the fun!

Our Champions 4 Christ Boys Group and our Friends 'n Faith Girls Group will both have their next meeting on Sunday, October 21st at 6:00pm in our Social Hall. Champions 4 Christ is open to all boys in the community in grades 1st-6th; Friends 'n Faith is open to all girls in grades 3rd-6th. Contact Katie at katie@hicksumc.org if you need additional information.

Hicks Youth Fellowship October Events

Pumpkin Palooza!

On Saturday OCTOBER 20TH, HYF will be heading over to Hollidaysburg Church of the Brethren to participate in a Pumpkin Palooza sponsored by the Hollidaysburg Youth Ministerium. The event will be from 7-9:30 PM. The Palooza consists of pumpkin carving, scarecrow building, laser tag, s'mores by a camp fire, and more. We will be meeting at the church at 6:45 to carpool. If there are youth that live near Hollidaysburg Church of the Brethren (1028 Penn St. Hollidaysburg, PA) they can drop of their kids at the church. We just ask that you let Jason know ahead of time, so we have enough drivers. Parents can pick up their kids at the church of the Brethren at 9:30 PM. We will not be heading back to Hicks once the event is over.

Youth Group at a Glance:

Youth group has restarted, we have been meeting every Sunday Night since starting on September 9th. During that month our goal was to teach the Youth about the “Grace” that God shows people who are willing to follow. The main themes of each week were: through God’s grace there is freedom. God’s followers must be willing to repent of their sins. God’s Grace through his son Jesus, is the key to eternal life. The goal of the first month of HYF was to help our new students feel welcomed. We thought one of the best ways to complete this task was to have our first ever, “Paint War” (see photos on next page). HYF is not a closed group. Our kids are always encouraged to bring friends and it is open to any youth ages 12-18 in our church or community. For more infor-

APPLE DUMPLING SALE. The Genesis Sunday School Class is sponsoring an apple dumpling sale. Orders can be given to members of the Genesis class or there is a sign-up sheet on the Welcome Desk. Dumplings are $3.50 each. Orders are due by Sunday, October 14 and must be pre-paid. Orders will be available for pick up on Saturday, October 27th from 9-11am. Thank you!

VOLUNTEER TRAINING. Have you been thinking about serving in our Children's Ministry but aren't sure what it will be like? Maybe you have served in the past but life got really busy and you've been hesitant to start volunteering again. Just about everyone can come up with a reason not to volunteer in Children's Ministry, and very often the reasons are very good. Still, the fact remains, children are vital to a healthy church and we need YOUR help to serve them each week. If serving our children has been on your heart I'd like to encourage you to take the next step and say YES to the call! Join me at our upcoming volunteer training session on Monday, October 15th at 7:00pm in our Jungle Classroom. This training is for everyone who has never served before but has a heart for children and wants to use their God given gifts to serve our ministry! Childcare is provided. Snacks are a definite! Sign up at the Welcome Desk or email Katie Guise at Katie@hicksumc.org.

NEW SMALL GROUP. A new 6 week study invites you to pull free from constant pressure to perform faster, push harder, and produce more, all while maintaining an exhausting image of perfection. We will follow the book Present Over Perfect: Leaving Behind Frantic for a Simpler, More Soulful Way of Living, (available at Amazon, Barnes and Noble, and Walmart.) Childcare is available, but requires notification prior to our meetings. Sign up on Welcome Desk or contact Allyce Fogle at 505-3564 or email at adf101@francis.edu.

KNITTERS AND CROCHETERS. The Knitters Small Group will meet on Tuesdays in the classroom off the chapel at 7:00 pm.

QUILTING GUILD. The quilting guild will meet on Wednesday, October 3rd (please note day change). There will be NO quilting group on Oct. 11th, and quilting will resume on Oct. 18th.

MENTOR TRAINING. We talk a lot about making disciples, but how does one actually do that? You mentor. You come alongside another person as a support, friend, and guide in the faith. We want to help you do that. We are excited to be hosting a Mentor Training on Saturday, November 3rd from 9 to 2pm at Hicks. We have invited certified Life Coach Jennifer Lake and her husband, Rev. Matt Lake to lead us in this training. Both Jenn and Matt have extensive experience in mentoring and leadership development. You won't want to miss this quality training. Sign up at the Welcome Desk or call or email the church office to register.

UMW. Susquehanna Conference United Methodist Women Annual Day at Hicks – Saturday Oct. 20. Register before Oct. 6 to attend this day of worship, celebration and learning with other women from across the Conference. Registration information is on the Welcome Desk.

M&M. The Meal and Ministry will be held on Monday, Oct. 1. Meet at the church at 11:45 to carpool, have lunch at noon at Brooklyn Deli near Blue Knob Auto and volunteer at Mission Central Hub from 1-3. All are welcome to participate.

HEARING DEVICES. Hearing devices for all three services are available upon request at the sound desk in the back of the sanctuary.

Dessert Donations needed for benefit

The 2nd annual "Prayers for Adam" benefit is again looking for dessert donations of any type to serve with their planned meal. The event is being held at the Duncansville Community Center on Saturday, October 13th, however, you can drop off your baked goods any time between 12-4:00pm at the Duncansville Center.

The "Prayers for Adam" benefit is being organized by Kerri & Craig LeCrone of our church to support the ongoing medical treatments for their neighbor, 2 year old Adam Matherne. On June 5th, 2017 Adam slipped out of the house while the family was leaving for their daughters' softball game and was found lifeless in the pool 3 minutes later. Although CPR was performed by parents, grandparents, EMS, and the local hospital Adam was without a heartbeat for over 80 minutes. All proceeds will go towards the hyperbaric oxygen and stem cell infusions he is receiving that are considered "alternative" medicine for non-fatal drownings and are not covered by insurance. If you are able to bring a dessert on the 13th, please reply to this email or add your name to the sheet located on the Welcome Desk. If you have any questions, please contact Kerri LeCrone at 814-931-5257. The Matherne & LeCrone families appreciate all of your continued support and prayers. If you'd like to make a monetary donation, you can write a check made out to Adam Matherne and send it to:
